ESO is on the GFWC Florida website!!! Yea – thank you Jennifer Hawkins!!!

You will find everything you need to sign up for ESO, submit book reports and view the reading list. Please email me if your questions are not answered with this information.

I am currently working to put all the ESO members' information on a spreadsheet. An email was sent to each club president throughout the state to verify the information I have is accurate. I have heard back from several clubs but there are many more that have yet to respond. I am looking for a current listing of your ESO members. Please keep in mind that when you send your pledge applications and fees to headquarters, you will also need to send a copy to me.

Since we have begun submitting book reports and certificates by email, the cost associated with the ESO program has come down considerably. Because of this, there is no longer an annual fee of $5.00. Only new pledges will pay the fee. However, I will still need updates on current membership within each club. If you prefer mailed copies of your certificates please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope when you mail your reports to me.

Please check out the GFWC Reading List for some interesting book selections. If there are books on other reading lists that you would like to read, please do! The GFWC Categories are numerous and any book will easily fit into one of them.

Scholastic Book Fair

Scholastic book fair will be upstairs at Fall Board. We will be having a social time with cash bar and prize drawings from 5:15 to 6:15 on Saturday evening just before the book fair closes. Members can shop for themselves, for gifts, or there will be several pre-selected books that you can buy and leave to donate.
